materials, gauge and sizing

This long, leafy stole was designed with the idea of crocheting something long, relaxing and easy-going with a gradient yarn cake.

Liula uses a vintage leaf stitch pattern combined with a structured three double crochet edge to give a swooping, falling leaves effect with nice straight edges for easy wearing. My version is over 2 metres long and can be worn in a variety of ways.

Liula uses one 3ply, 1000m cake of Cotton Flowers yarn. You can make it in whatever colour you like and as long as you prefer, perhaps even using the whole cake (I used approximately 85% of my cake). The yarn is 50% cotton, 50% acrylic and super light and soft. The gradient changes are subtle and addictive, you will not be able to put this one down.

For this project you will need:

1 x 3ply, 1000m yarn cake from Cotton Flowers Yarn

<https://www.etsy.com/uk/shop/CottonflowersYarns> - you can alternatively use any 3 or 4ply yarn cake you like (or is in your stash!).

4mm hook (G/6).

Finished size: 30 cm x 210 cm

Tension: is not critical for this project.

This is the converted US terminology pattern. Whilst every care has been made to turn all trebles into doubles, there may be some references to my original UK pattern. If in doubt, consult the abbreviations below.

The Liula pattern is worked in a six row repeat with leaves growing and shrinking across the repeat.

You start new leaves on Rows 3 and 7 so make sure you remember to do that instead of skipping the 2ch space. The 3dc edging gives the stole a structured border as well as a nice straight edge and the 4mm hook gives a nice loose fabric that feels soft and drapey on your shoulders.

Chain 79

Row 1. 1dc in 4th chain from hook, 1dc in next ch, ch2, skip 2, *1dc in next 9ch, ch2, skip 2, 3dc in next ch, ch2, skip 2, dc2tog over next 2ch, 1dc in next 3ch, dc2tog over next 2ch, ch2, skip 2; repeat from * to end, 1dc in last 3ch, turn.

Row 6. ch3, 1dc in next 2dc, ch2, miss 2ch space, *dc2tog, 1dc in next 5dc, dc2tog, ch2, miss 2ch space, 2dc in first dc, 1dc in next 5dc, 2dc in last dc (of this group), ch2, miss (2ch space, dc3tog, 2ch space); repeat from * to end, 1dc in next 2dc, 1dc in top of turning chain, turn.

Row 7. ch3, 1dc in next 2dc, ch2, *miss 2ch space, 1dc in next 9dc, ch2, 3dc in 2ch space, ch2, dc2tog, 1dc in next 3dc, dc2tog, ch2; repeat from * to end, 1dc in next 2dc, 1dc in top of turning chain, turn.

Repeat Rows 2-7 for pattern whilst enjoying the yarn changing colour thread by thread (it is superb fun!), work to your desired length finishing on a Row 7.

To finish

Sew in your two (yes, only two!) ends, hurrah!

I've designed this stole to be crocheted at a loose gauge for a drapey and unstructured feel. It hasn't been blocked to maintain this look but do block gently if you prefer.

some useful stuff

I rate this pattern as easy/intermediate. Easy because once you get the hang of the six row repeat it becomes enjoyable and repetitive. Intermediate because the first seven rows are a bit complex (you will need to do some thinking) and it may trip up the newer or newest of crocheter.

I didn't test this pattern so much as ask a few of my crochet friends to make one. They are all advanced crocheters and they found the pattern easy to follow and intuitive - they also corrected my many mistakes, thank goodness. So a big thank you to Chrissie (@chrissie_crafts), Victoria (@you.me.and.acupoftea), Sandra (@sandracherryhrt) and Sam (@betsymakes).

You can find me on Ravelry as PotterandBloom or visit my website at www.potterandbloom.com for more tips, chat and lots of free patterns.
