

Colleen's Outlander Capelet

Updated: 3.30.2020

3.75mm
Knightbridge
Garnmore

I fell in love with the knitted original capelet on Outlander, the series, and the only problem is I do not knit. I searched to find a crochet version pattern that was even close and could not find one. So after many evenings of frogging, cussing and putting the project in "time-out" I finished it. I could not be prouder of my creation. So onwards and upwards to the pattern.

Materials:

Red Heart Saver (I used Heather Grey) roughly 300 yards

Size I hook

2 size 1 3/16" /30mm buttons to match

Stitches:

SC BLO - Single Stitch backloop only

Note: This is made with a 24-inch neckline. The length from top to bottom is adjustable (see notes at end of pattern)
so if you want to have more of a drape on the shoulders you can just add more chain stitches at the beginning. It will not alter the pattern.

To begin: Ch 54 to start

Row 1:	Skip 1 st chain and SC BLO in the remaining chains. (53 sc). Chain 1 turn
Row 2:	Skip 1 st chain stitch and SC BLO in the entire row, chain 1 turn
Row 3:	Skip 1 st chain stitch and SC BLO in the entire row, chain 1 turn
The next steps will give you the “flare” at the bottom of the garment

*I did 63
SC found 502, as the chain*

Row 4:	Skip 1st chain stitch SC BLO in the first 7 stitches, turn.
Row 5:	SC BLO in the 2nd stitch from the hook (6 st). Chain 1 turn

Row 6:	Skip 1st chain stitch SC BLO 10 stitches, please note that you are going to go into the "7th" stitch base. Turn.
Row 7:	SC BLO in the 2 nd stitch from hook (9 st). Chain 1 turn
Row 8:	SC BLO 15 stitches, turn
Row 9:	SC BLO in the 2 nd stitch from hook (14 st). Chain 1 turn
Row 10:	SC BLO 20 stitches, turn
Row 11:	SC BLO in the 2 nd stitch from hook (19 st), chain 1 turn
Row 12:	SC BLO 25 stitches, turn
Row 13:	SC BLO in the 2 nd stitch from hook (24 st), chain 1 turn. That completes the flare
Row 14-21:	Skip 1 st chain stitch SC BLO 53 stitches, chain 1 turn.
You will repeat rows 1-21 11 times or if you would like it larger (width wise), you can add more sections but it really doesn't need it, one size it fits all sizes.

	You will complete an extra row of SC BLO 53 stitches to bring you to the top of the garment (neckline).
1 st buttonhole	SC BLO 10 stitches, chain 4, sl st in the 4 th SC to create your buttonhole. Continue SC BLO in the row.
	Skip 1 st chain stitch SC BLO for 3 more rows Complete another “flare” section again Skip 1 st chain stitch SC BLO one complete row of 53 stitches. Chain 1 and turn.
2 nd buttonhole	SC BLO 5 stitches, chain 4, sl st in the 4 th sc to create your 2 nd buttonhole. Continue SC for 3 more complete rows. Tie off and attach buttons.
	You will have a total of 12 flares in the completed capelet.

NOTE: Sizing Update:

There is not any pattern changes, only a sizing note so there is not a revised pattern to download. This will fit a small to 3x as the pattern is. It is more or less a one size fits all. I had the girls in my crochet group try it on and they range from a small to 5x and it fit them. It has a 24 inch neckline. There are notes to make the capelet slightly larger or smaller. Please note: You can increase the length by 10 stitches (for more of a drape) and only add up to 2 additional sections to add to the width without deviating from the design. Anything beyond and you have gone rogue! Enjoy!
