PATTERN OVERVIEW

OVERVIEW:

This garment is made in 3 main pieces.

- Back panel, front right panel and front left panel.

Turning chain does not count as a stitch in this pattern.

Leaf detail: Pattern is written but there is a supplementary chart at back of pattern. Note all three leaves follow the same pattern/chart.

Once seamed, each wing sleeve is worked directly into the arm holes.

Waist ties are customizable, if you wish to crochet them you will seam them to the front panels. You can also use ribbons and sew to front panel.

If you are between sizes, try going down a size as the wrap top is meant to fit closely when tied. If your garment is too loose the detailing on the leaves may get lost.

Take care when blocking to not over stretch the garment or the top will not fit closely enough to show the detailing.

RIGHT AND WRONG SIDE:

It is important you are familiar with which is the right and wrong side of your garment.

After you create your back panel, select which side will be your right side. Using a stitch marker can help you keep track of which is right and which is wrong side.

When you begin your front panels, you must match your right sides to your back panel.

Left and Right front panels are flipped, so knowing which is your right and wrong side is critical to ensure you work each front panels decreases and increases on the appropriate side.

BACK PANEL HOW TO READ THIS PATTERN

Carefully read the instruction on this page before moving to the pattern on page 6.

This page explains how the back panel pattern is written.

INDICATION FOR INCREASES:

The back panel is made worked bottom up in dc. Increase with 2dc in same stitch.

This pattern does not list every stitch per row per size, instead you are given the total stitch count and an indication if there is an increase in the row.

Example

Row 6 : ch2, (74+, 82+, 92+, 104+, 116+, 128+, 138+, 144+, 152+) turn

Row 7: ch2, (74, 82, 92, 104, 116, 128, 140+, 146+, 154+) turn

In Row 7, 3XL states 140+

- the (+) sign indicates this row increases from the previous row, add TWO inc. in this row, one at the beginning and one at the end.

INCREASE PLACEMENT:

Back Panel is mirrored, ALWAYS increase on indented rows with TWO inc, one in the first stitch and one in the last stitch. This is regardless of even or odd rows.

Simply watch for:

The (+) sign – when you see it, place ONE inc. at the start and end of your row.

This page explains how the front panels patterns are written.

Inside edge =
DECREASE

INDICATION FOR DECREASES AND INCREASES:

The front panels are worked bottom up in dc. Increase with 2dc, decrease with dc2tog.

This pattern does not list every stitch per row per size, instead you are given the total stitch count and an indication if there are decreases and/or increases in the row.

EX

Row 5: ch2, dc(68 76 86 98 110 122 131 138 146), turn

Row 6: ch2, dc(68+ 76+ 86+ 98+ 110+ 122+ 131+ 138+ 146+), turn

In Row 6, 1XL states 110+

- the (+) indicates this row has an increase, add ONE inc.
- the underline indicates this row has a decrease. add ONE dc2tog
- NOTE: The total st count remains the same as the previous row because you placed one increase and one decrease

INCREASE AND DECREASE PLACEMENT:

Front Panel is not mirrored, ALWAYS increase on the outside. ALWAYS decrease on the inside. This is regardless of even or odd rows.

Simply watch for

1. The (+) sign – when you see it place one inc. on the outside of your row.
2. An underline– when you see it place the required number of dc2tog on the inside of your row.

LEFT FRONT PANEL HOW TO READ THIS PATTERN

Carefully read the instruction on this page before moving to the pattern on page 19.

INDICATION FOR DECREASES AND INCREASES:

The front panels are worked bottom up in dc. Increase with 2dc, decrease with dc2tog.

This pattern does not list every stitch per row per size, instead you are given the total stitch count and an indication if there are decreases and/or increases in the row.

EX

Row 5: ch2, dc(68 76 86 98 110 122 131 138 146), turn

Row 6: ch2, dc(68+ 76+ 86+ 98+ 110+ 122+ 131+ 138+ 146+), turn

In Row 6, 1XL states 110+

- the (+) indicates this row has an increase, add ONE 2dc
- the underline indicates this row has a decrease. add ONE dc2tog
- NOTE: The total st count remains the same as the previous row because you placed one increase and one decrease

INCREASE AND DECREASE PLACEMENT:

Front Panel is not mirrored, ALWAYS increase on the outside. ALWAYS decrease on the inside. This is regardless of even or odd rows.

Simply watch for

1. The (+) sign – when you see it place ONE 2dc on the outside of your row.
2. An underline– when you see it place your dc2tog on the inside of your row.

Right vs Wrong Side

You must select which is your right side to select your inside vs outside. Match your right side to your back panel to ensure seaming looks cleanest.

PLUS SIGN (#+):

Reminder there is an OUTSIDE EDGE INCREASE on this row.

UNDERLINE (#):

Reminder there is an INSIDE EDGE DECREASE on this row.

Mark your right side with a stitch marker.

Make sure you place your dc2tog in Row 2 on the opposite side you did for the right panel.

PATTERN PART FOUR:

SEAMING & SLEEVES

SEAM BACK PANEL TO FRONT PANELS:

1. Lay your back panel down flat, right side facing you.
2. Lay your front panels down on top of the back panel, wrong side facing you.
3. Carefully line up the shoulder straps while you carefully line up the outside edges of the garment.
4. Seam along the top of shoulders using mattress stitch (or similar stitch of your choice)
5. Seam right front panel to back panel from bottom to armpit.
6. Seam left front panel to back panel from bottom to armpit.

Leave a one-inch space un seamed along the right side approximately one inch from the bottom edge. This should equal about 2 rows (for example do not seam rows 2 and 3 of front panel to row 2 and 3 of back panel)

This space will be to pass your right front panel waist tie through.

SLEEVES:

Attach your yarn to the back panel at the armpit decrease corner.

Row 1: ch1, sc into the end of each row (up to the shoulder seam and down to the front panel armpit decrease corner), turn (see below for a tip for multi colour garments*)

Row 2: ch2, 2 dc2tog, dc to the middle of your row (should line up with your shoulder seam), dc2tog, dc across stopping before the 4th from last dc, 2 dc2tog, turn

Row 3-(8,8,9,10,10,11,11,12,12): ch2, 2 dc2tog, dc across stopping before previous rows dc2tog, dc2tog, dc across stopping before the 4th from last dc, 2 dc2tog, turn

[NOTE: You can reduce or increase row count for sleeves to fit and flatter your own shoulder. If you have smaller shoulders, you may wish to reduce your rows, if you have broad shoulders you may wish to increase your rows. Continue pattern of 2 decrease at end of each row and one decrease in the middle. The sample is 10 rows]

Fasten off, weave in ends.

*IF YOUR SLEEVE IS A DIFFERENT COLOUR FROM BACK PANEL:

To ensure a clean line, work Row 1 in both colours. Switching at the shoulder seam so your Row 1 colours match the panels. Then work Row 2 as above in one colour.

PATTERN PART FIVE:

WAIST TIES AND FINISHING

FINISHING EDGES:

Using the corresponding yarn colour, sc around all exposed edges. Including sleeves and armpit.

Fasten off and weave in ends.

[Note: Sample garment uses the main colour for the whole neckline, however it matches the trim to corresponding sleeve colours.

WAIST TIES:

ch (72,80,90,102,114,126,135,142,150), turn

ch2, dc(72,80,90,102,114,126,135,142,150), turn

ch2, dc(72,80,90,102,114,126,135,142,150), turn

sc around the entire waist tie.

Fasten off, leave length to seam.

Do the above steps twice to have 2 straps.

Seam using mattress coat stitch to the front panel bottom corner. Take care to match ensure your ws and rs line up.

BLOCKING:

Block when seaming complete.

Take care when blocking to not warp the leaf details chained 'veins'.

It can help to measure your garment to intended size while blocking to ensure you do not over stretch the garment.

CARE:

Hand wash and lay flat to dry
